

ScholarshipPoints.com Awards over $120,000 in Scholarships in 2010

ScholarshipPoints.com, a free college scholarship rewards program, helps 81 students achieve their dream of a higher education with college scholarship funds

Quincy, MA (February 1, 2011)—ScholarshipPoints (www.scholarshippoints.com), an Edvisors online education company, recently closed out 2010 having given away over $120,000 in scholarship money. This milestone is a testament to ScholarshipPoints' commitment to defraying the cost of college for students and Edvisors' commitment to help better educate the world. Through their free scholarships program, ScholarshipPoints helps students of all ages achieve their dreams of a college education by giving away scholarships worth up to $10,000 on a monthly basis. To ensure funds are used only for educational purposes, awards are sent directly to the student's financial aid office.

Tyler Hester, a student at John Tyler Community College, was one of the 81 students touched by ScholarshipPoints.com during the past year. He became the latest $10,000 scholarship recipient when he won the December 15th drawing. "This scholarship will be a tremendous help in paying for my education," said Hester. "I work part time to help with the college expenses and this award will be a huge help to my family."
